Cheat River Is Blamed For Colored Water Supply

The water is again on the rinky dink. For the past few days it has been badly discolored and could be passed off better for thin molasses than water, but in the face of this, the water company claims that it is almost 100 per cent pure.

The company claims that this coloring comes from the Cheat river and is the stain of leaves that gather in the stream when it is low, and discolor the water. Of course the leaves haven't commenced to fall yet, but it is likely that when the drops of rain come down over the foliage, it has the same coloring effect. And it may also be that the water is pure for who knows but what the coloring material acts as a ptomaine poison to the germs and kills them off. But the analysis of the Tri Cities water published July 27 shows approximately 7,020 bacteria to a cubic centimeter of water. That looks like a lot of bugs to be drinking, but the company now claims, according to the Charleroi Mail that there is only one bacterium to twenty drops of water. If this is true, that fellow would get lonesome in a fellow's stomach, and he'd better get a Ford car and drive over and jump nithe Yough.

Also the water company claims that it would cost $85.00 for a twelve hours run of the filtration plant to remove the stain from the water. The water indicates then that rather than spend the eighty five, the company prefers to permit the consumers to drink the water, since it is harmless in its present condition. The Charleroi Mail concludes with the following eulogy of the company: "The filtration system here is considered by the state health authorities a god one." It may be a good one, but there are a lot better ones found in kitchens about town.

Met Yesterday

Brownsville entertained the surviving members of the Ringgold calvary, listed as the Twenty-second regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers at the outbreak of the Civil war. One hundred and fifty-three members of the organization and visiting Grand Army men attended the celebration. A procession of forty automobiles carried the old warriors about the town, after which a short business session was held, and the reunion brought to a close with a campfire meeting, at which reminiscences of the war were recounted.

Quiet Circus Day

Yesterday was the quietest circus day ever recorded in Monessen, not one arrest being made during the entire day, and after disposing of a few cases hanging over from yesterday morning, police court was dismissed. Many persons were in town from the country districts and surrounding cities, but the best of order was maintained. Extra police were sworn in, but they had little to do with the exception of keeping traffic open on the principal street corners.

Word was received from Brownsville that several games of chance were in operation in the annex of the show and shortly after the tent was up, Acting Burgess Dale and Chief Wheatley entered and saw that all gambling devices were closed. An oriental show began operation in the annex, but when the promoter asked for an additional 25 cent piece for another performance, the crowd quickly disappeared. A very poor crowd attended the afternoon performance of the big show, but in the evening every available seat was occupied. A feature of the program was the performance of three elephants, probably the best trained animals of their kind in the business.

Will Have Big Time With Slate

Devotees of the gormandizing political dynasty that is being reared out of the old wreckage have not all had their orders yet and they feel it will be necessary to wait until the campaign begins to close in.

It is understood there is war in the camp owing to the fulfillment of some promises that were made some time ago when Senator Penrose was to visit the county seat. The bosses were afraid to show their hand at the Senator's reception for fear everybody else would stay away and there would be no one there but the Senator and a few little ward healers that do the bidding. In order to save the situation, it is reported, they are said to have given out promises to certain candidates that if they would bring out of town delegations in to swell the crowd that they would be slated for office. It is said one of the biggest jobs in the court house was given away at this time. The candidate's name was written on the slate with indellible ink. Everything was done but deliver the vote, and it is understood now that the promise is just like a ghost. They can't deliver the goods, they can't evade the obligation and when the slate is cleaned off, this man's name reappears just like Banquo's ghost and will not down.

Then when the "Tribune Daily and Press Weekly" bobs up with its claim for all of the patronage of the court house alternately, it just mixes the thing all up. Knowing the unpopularity and the greedy tendencies of this publishing combination, some of the candidates when approached are said to stare vacantly into space and barely nod assent. These newspapers watch the treasury and see that the expense accounts and the finances of all office holders outside of the combine are well audited. But it is understood that there is an affidavit being prepared for publication that will place the Tribune exactly where it belongs with regard to the consistency of its arguments.

Some predict a sweeping change at the fountain head of this political ambitious sheet before the nomination, in order to put forth a last effort to save the day. Republican voters realize the importance of a free and open primary election with capable men who are free to conduct the affairs of their office, nominated in order to win at the general election in the fall.

Automobile Races At Belle Vernon

Monessen automobile racing fans will be given an opportunity to witness many of the racing cars and drivers entered in the Uniontown hill climb last June burn the tracks on a half mile course at the two-day race meet at Belle Vernon next Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27-28.

To date three cars seen in the Hill Climb have entered for the Belle Vernon events; I. P. Fetterman with his powerful Simplex, T. P. Rose with his 140 h. p. Mercedes and G. B. Gardner with his famous Bullet. These three cars and drivers have been in a number of the same events recently and enough real chivalry has developed among them to make things interesting next week. Besides these, there is a strong liklihood of several Uniontown cars entering the meet within the next few days.

Married Yesterday

A quiet home wedding of Wednesday morning was solemnized at the home fo Mr. and Mrs. George Hughes of Fitz Henry, Pa., when their daughter Amelia was united in marriage to Mr. S. Braden Schrontz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schrontz of Washington, Pa. Rev. W. S. Carson of the First Baptist church of Monessen performed the ceremony. Anna Marie Schultz, niece of the bride, acted as ring bearer and Mrs. John Moon of Homestead rendered a vocal selection. Both bride and groom were members of the the 1910 class of the Southwestern Normal school, California, Pa.

A wedding breakfast was served, after which the couple left for a motor trip through the east. After September 15th, they will be at home to their friends at 641 Park Way, Monessen.

Mr. Schrontz is principal of the Junior High school and grades in Monessen, while Mrs.Schrontz taught school in Suterville, Pa. They carry with them the best wishes of their friends for a very happy and enjoyable future.

Page Plant To Supply Pure Water

The most modern and scientific way of purifying water for drinking purposes is to sterilize it by electricity.

The Page Woven Wire Fence company have, after a thorough investigation by E. C. Sattley, general manager of the company, in conjunction with their engineers, installed for the use of the employes, a complete pure drinking water system.

A special room has been built in which the apparatus is installed and the water under high pressure is sent through a special clearifying filter, from there it goes through an apparatus which produces ozone by electricity and every drop of water is instantly sterilized.

Ozone is the most natural germicide that is known. It is this gas that makes the air feel so purcafter a thunder storm. In Europe, many of the large cities like St. Petersburg (now Petrograd,) Paris and Lacy, have ozone plants installed for purifying their drinking water. In the first city mentioned alone the plant cost over three million dollars.

The water, after it is made pure by the ozone. is sent into a large ice cooler and from there it is run into large glass bottles holding five gallons each. Provided throughout the mill are coolers and porcelain retainers which hold these bottles, and at all times the pure, clear, sparkling drinking water is visible.

A special apparatus is provided for washing and sterilizing the bottles by ozone and after they are filled with the pure, iced water they are corked and carried to the cooler stand.

The holders of the bottles are so arranged that it is impossible for the water to get any outside contamination, so the water remains just as pure to the last drop as it did when it was filled.

All the water in the bottles is cooled to the proper drinking temperature and a system of changing the bottles on schedule time allows for having cool water at all times.

With this system it gives the Page company the most modern installation in the country for pure drinking water.

During the period when the water is so poor in Monessen, the Page management will permit its employes the privilege of taking to their homes a limited supply of this pure drinking water for table use.

The installation was under the direction of Mr. Harry Rosenthal. the Consulting Engineer of the American Ozone company of Philadelphia.

—Mrs. Mayo Haines of Brownsville, was a visitor in town today.

California Band Will Give Concert Sunday Evening

The California Italian band, one of the leading musical organizations of the valley will be the attraction at the Sixth street band stand Sunday, and will give a concert that promises to eclipse anything ever before presented in this city. John Iannotta, a well known musician of this city, is leader of the California organization and claims his men are the best in the profession. They have been the attraction at large celebrations in the valley and were great favorites at the Columbus Day celebration in Pittsburgh recently. Mr. Iannotta is a director of unusual merit and at the present time is organizing a band in this city.

Albert Marchione of the Colonial pool and billiard room of this city, wishing to give the residents of Monessen an opportunity to hear this famous organization, got into communication with Manager Joseph Saeli of the band and through his influence the organization will come here, meeting their own expenses. Follow is the program for the evening, to which the public is cordially invited:

March ..... Quaglia
Overture ..... Matricano
Grand Selection from Il Travotore.. ..... Verdi
Liberty of Italian Prisoners .. N. N.
Canti Popolari, Clarinet Solo ... . G. Cecchi
It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary ..... Sung by the boys of the band
Festa di Campagna, overture ....Filippi
La Paloma, Spanish Serenade ... . Tradier
Duet from Norma—solo for cornet and trombone ..... Bethlini
War Songs of the Boys in Blue, Medley ..... Laurendon
Sorella, March Espagnole ...Gallini

Elect Local Lady

The Grand Temple of Pennsylvania Pythian Sisters, holding its eighteenth annual session in the Fort Pitt hotel, Pittsburgh, yesterday afternoon, elected the grand officers, Mrs. Anna May Pittman, representative of the Pythian Sisters of this city being honored by election to the office of Grand Outer Guard. ,

Quite a number of local Knights of Pythias attended the convention of the Uniformed Rank Knights of Pythias now in session at Pittsburgh and participated in the big spectacular parade yesterday. The members are holding camp in Pittsburgh and a feature of tonight will be the Madri Gras carnival. A band will be stationed at both ends of the street and a gala time will be held by the Knights and the Pythian Sisters.

Local Murder Case

Among the three murder cases listed for trial at the August term of court is Charles Duoglas, the local colored man charged with the murder of Joseph Smith of the Webster road th night of June 20. Attorneys Beacom and Bell have been appointed as counsel for the alleged murder. The commonwealth has secured a strong chain of evidence against the negro, who claims he knows nothing of the crime.

The Land of By-and-By

What a blessed thing it is that we can forget. Today's troubles look large, but a week hence they will be forgotten and buried out of sight. Says one writer: "If you would keep a book and daily put down the things that worry you, and see what becomes of them, it would benefit you. You allow a thing to annoy you, just as you allow a fly to settle on you and plague you, and you justify yourself by being thrown off your balance by cau es which you did not trace out. But if you could see what it was that threw you off your balance before breakfast, and put it down in a little book, and follow it out, and ascertain what becomes of it, you would see what a fool you were in the matter." The art of forgetting is a blessed art, but the art of overlooking is quite as important. And if we should take time to write down the origin, progress and outcome of a few of our troubles, it would make us so ashamed of the fuss we make over them, that we should be glad to drop such things and bury them at once in eternal forgetfulness. Life is too short to be worn out in petty worries, frettings, hatreds and vexations.

For Their Neighbors

The hardest housekeeping in the world is the housekeeping that people do for their neighbors. Half the troubles we have are caused by worrying about what people think. What difference does it make what they think, anyway? No one can live his own life and two or three other people's lives besides. What's the use of setting up housekeeping on the roof or on the outside walls for the benefit of the neighbors? You would rightly be judged insane if you suggested anything of the kind, and that is practically what half the people do. They can't do this because the neighbors would talk, and they can't do that because the neighbors wonder if they could not afford to do something else. They may not say it in so many words, but they mean it, and it is simply a great big vacuum in some of our natures where moral courage ought to be. Half the sting of poverty or small means is gone when one keeps house for himself and not for his neighbors.

What Color Is a Dandelion?

What color is a dandelion? That question led Richard Jeffries a search through science, art and nature, and his essay ends with the dismal wail "There are a million books, and yet with all their aid I cannot tell the color of the May dandelion." The nearest he could come to it was to say "yellow gold orange," which string of words suggests the gypsy name for this flower, "Queen's great hairy dog flower." It is sensitive in its coloring absorbing from its neighbor and changing with climatic conditions. But no matter what one calls its color it is emblazoned on the minds of the majority as "golden," and in this case the majority rules. It is spring's largess scattered with lavish hand to rich and poor, as welcome in many cases as if it were the real five dollar piece which it so nearly resembles, and the first dandelion will always touch the heart in much the same manner as the first robin's notes.—Sarah Graham Morrison in Countryside Magazine

His First Taste of Discipline.

Admiral Jouett, probably one of the jolliest seadogs our navy ever knew, once told an amusing story of his early days as a cadet.

"I was a sociable youngster," he says, "and when I went to my first assignment, the Independence, and saw the stars and stripes floating over it I remembered my mother had taught me that my first duty was to the flag, so I attempted some conversation on this line with the executive officer who had received me when I came on board and who was one of the strictest disciplinarians in the navy of that day.

"'Silence, sir!' he roared at my first question, his face red with anger. 'Silence, sir! Who gave you permission to speak? Let me hear only six words from you, sir, while you are on this ship—"port," "starboard," "yes, sir," and "no, sir."'

"And this was my first discipline in the navy."

A Hint.

On Church and State

The recent action of one of the leading churches of this nation, in annual convention, demanding that the laymen vote only for candidates for office whose views coincide with those of the clergy on one of the leading political issues, and direct and indirect efforts of other church organizations to interfere with the freedom of the ballot, make one of the greatest perils of this age, and present a problem that should receive thoughtful consideration of both laymen and citizens.

Suckling babes may well squirm in their cradles when ministers in convention assembled release the hearts of men and grab them by the throat, for Christianity has broken down, religion has become a farce and the pulpit a failure. When the church substitutes force for persuasion, command for conviction and coercion for reason, the sheriff had as well pass the sacrament, plain-clothes men take charge of the altar and policemen bury the dead, for why a church?

It is as dastardly a crime against government for a minister to undertake to deliver the votes of his parishioners to a candidate, as it is for a ward heeler to deliver a block of votes to a political boss, and both ought to be prosecuted, for the law should be no respecter of persons.

It is as objectionable for a convention of ministers to seek by canonical law to control the votes of church members as it would be for a convention of manufacturers to issue orders for their employees to vote for a certain candidate. Such conduct is offensive to decency, business morals and a crime against society. Any convention, whether composed of saints or sinners, rich or poor, white or black, that seeks to prostitute power and coerce conscience ought to be broken up by the police and its leaders arrested for treason.

A crime by any other name is a crime just the same. An ecclesiastical robe cannot sanctify treason, authority to preach does not carry with it license to become a political ringster, or the right to teach us how to pray give a permit to tell us how to vote. No man in joining the church should sacrifice his citizenship, forfeit his constitutional liberties or subordinate his duty to the state The earth many times has been drenched with the blood of our forefathers fighting to throw off the ecclesiastical yoke from the state, and the suggestion of a return to these medieval conditions with their horror and their torture should not be tolerated for a moment.

Laws should be passed prohibiting any preacher, or combination of preachers, from delivering or attempting to deliver their membership or congregation to any candidate for office, and suitable legislation should be passed preserving the sanctity of the pulpit from political vandalism It is as much a menace to church and state for a politician to occupy the pulpit as for a minister to preach a political sermon. He has no more right to preach his politics from the pulpit than a teacher has to teach his politics to his pupils. A preacher cannot make political trickery righteous by usage any more than he can make profanity respectable by practice. It is one of the ironies of fate that a preacher may become a scandal as well as a glory to civilization.

R. P. Schwerin
On the Seamen's Bill

The American plowmen are interested in sea commerce. It is expensive and likewise humiliating to have to salute a foreign flag every time a farmer wants to ship a bushel of wheat, a bale of cotton or a pound of farm products across the ocean. The American farmer is entitled to the protection of his flag in sending his products across the sea, and Congress should give such encouragement to shipping interests as is necessary to meet foreign competition in ocean commerce. A recent bill known as the Seaman's Bill became a law under the President's signature and Mr. R. P. Schwerin, vice-president of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, when asked to define this law and outline its effect upon American steamship lines, said in part:

"The bill provides that no ship of any nationality shall be permitted to depart from any port of the United States unless she has on board a crew not less than seventy-five per centum of which, in each department thereof, is able to understand any order given by the officers of such vessel, nor unless forty per centum in the first year, forty-five per centum in the second year, fifty per centum in the third year, fifty-five per centum in the fourth year after the passage of this Act, and, thereafter sixty-five per centum of her deck crew, exclusive of licensed officers and apprentices, are of a rating not less than able seamen.'

"The oversea trade of the world is competitive, therefore the original cost of the ship and the operation of the ship have to be reckoned with in the keen competition of these rival nations with one another. The Oriental sailor is obedient and competent and is the cheapest sailor in the world. It is therefore manifestly clear that if this law applied to all nationalities in the transpacific traffic, all would be on the same economic basis, but it works a single hardship to all the ships of the world, except the Japanese and American ships, and with the latter it works two hardships. With the European, the cost of constructing a ship is no higher than the cost of constructing a Japanese ship, but if they had to provide European crews, while the Japanese operated with Japanese crews, the condition of competition would be such that they could not overcome the handicap and they would be driven off. But the American ship would have to contend not only with the tremendous increase of cost of wage in the substitution of the European crew for the Chinese crew, but also the greater initial cost of the ship. As the Japanese have now done away with their European officers and Japanese crews, all of whom speak a common language, there is no difficulty for them to comply with all the conditions of the bill and continue their Japanese crews, with Oriental wages.

"The law, therefore, instead of assisting the American ship, adds another heavy burden, while it places none whatever upon the Japanese ship, but, on the contrary, turns over to the Japanese the traffic of the Pacific Ocean, which the American ship is forced to forego by act of Congress of the United States."

On Railroads Co-operating With the Farmer

Co-operation is a theme that lends itself most readily to theory but yields stubbornly to practice. It is easy to speak the word but difficult to understand it and more difficult still to practice it. All can be selfish but it takes vision to be progressive. The organized farmer has been preaching co-operation for lo! these many years, but now come the railroads talking co-operation in the language of the soil.

A recent paper read by G. E. Cassel, publicity agent of the Norfolk & Western railway, is so full of horse sense that we reproduce it in part and urge the farmers along that roadway to continued co operation with the management of the road in all problems of mutual interest:

"We are now dealing with two of the most gigantic occupations of men—farming and land transportation. They are the basis of pretty nearly all wealth. When they fail the whole country fails. Therefore, how important it is that these two should fully understand each other, and work together not only for their own commercial advancement but for the prosperity of the nation.

"The farmers and the railways are natural allies in all their interests. It is difficult to conceive of greater service to the commonwealth than that of firmly fixing in the minds of both the railways and the farmers that they are mutually dependent and that the prosperity of one depends on the prosperity of the other, but that suspicion and misunderstanding destroy the various interests of both. Many of the most progressive and far-seeing railways have fully recognized this relation and dependence.

"In the study of economic conditions in all branches of human endeavor, from the birth of our nation down to within quite recent years, we are astonished at the utter lack of the co-operative principle—the 'work together' idea—and not only that, but extreme selfishness and purblind prejudice has more apparently dominated in the different branches of trade and other avenues of enterprise. This was a condition that government could not remedy. No statute law, or even written constitution, can do more than safeguard those inalienable rights of the individual.

"The mutual advantages of co-operation and sympathetic understanding are many and varied for both the railway and the farmer. The farmer is peculiarly dependent upon rapid and cheap transportation. His products are always comparatively bulky and frequently perishable. The railways give farmers a worldwide market for their products An intelligent understanding of the fundamental improvement of railway transportation is essential to the prosperity of any agricultural community. Worldwide and nationwide markets are made possible only by regular and cheap transportation such as is offered by the railways.

"So the farmer may conclude that when he co-operates with the railroads, his most potent allies, he is doing good for himself and much good for his country.

"'While there're leaves in the forest and foam on the river,'
The farmers and railways shall flourish forever."

"WALLINGFORD" TO APPEAR ON SCREEN

FAMOUS STORIES WILL BE PRESENTED AS ELABORATE FILM DRAMAS.

FAMOUS FICTION CHARACTER

J. Rufus and His Partner Blackie Daw, Have Entertained Millions of Readers.

No character in fiction of recent years has excited quite the same interest as that of "J. Rufus Wallingford the get-rich-quick man" George Randolph Chester, his creator, acquired fame through him and for years the shady schemes of the big promoter have amused the American public from coast to coast. "Wallingford" is so peculiarly an American product, his adventures are so startlingly original and humorous that the question has often been raised as to why the stories have not been put into pictures.

Now comes the house of Pathe with the announcement that they have secured the rights to film these stories and that the pictures will be put out in the fall under the title of "The New Adventures of Wallingford." The production of them has been turned over to Wharton, Inc., who have produced many Pathe successes. Work was started by them on the "Wallingford" stories at Ithaca, N. Y., on July 12th. Several of the best known players of the stage today have been secured for the cast. Max Figman will do "Blackie Daw", Frederic de Belleville will play "Wallingford", and Lolita Robertson will have the feminine lead.

Max Figman.

Max Figman is easily one of the best known actors of the day. Augustin Daly saw him playing a small part in Philadelphia when young Figman was only eighteen years old, and offered him a three years' contract. On the expiration of his contract Mr. Figman went with Charles Frohman, and then with Mrs. Fiske, with whom he was associated for seven years as a producer and leading man. Then he went starring and for the last eight years has been under the management of John Cort. A recent engagement was with the all star cast of "Fine Feathers." Mr. Figman has just built a fine summer home at Great Neck, Long Island, but because of his "Wallingford" engagement cannot christen it until fall.

Mr. de Belleville needs little introduction to the playgoing public. Born in Liege, Belgium, his father was a colonel and his brother a commandant in the Belgian Army. One of his great-uncles was a prime minister of Belgium in 1830. He played a wide variety of parts in London and Australia, and made his first appearance in the United States years ago in San Francisco Some of the famous productions with which he has been identified are "Diplomacy" with Rose Coghlan; "Divorcons," with Mrs. Fiske; "Tess of the Durbervilles"; "The Eternal City," with Viola Allen; and with Mrs. Fiske again in "Leah Kleschna."

Lolita Robertson is a California girl and began her stage career in stock at the Alcazar Theatre After a season or two there she came to New York, and was engaged by Henry Miller for "The Great Divide." Mr. Figman offered her a good part in "The Substitute," with which company she remained for two years Since then she has been continuously associated with Mr Figman in his productions.

ARNOLD DALY IN NEW PLAY.

The new "Arnold Daly Series" will soon be released by Pathe Mr. Daly will appear as Ashton Kirk investigator; the character having been taken from the stories of that name, by John McIntyre.

The Proof is Here the Same as Everywhere

For those who seek relief from kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief, and the proof is here in Monessen the same as everywhere. Monessen people have used Doan's and Monessen people recommend Doan's, the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Monessen proof. Investigate it.

Mrs. J. Feightner, 133 Oneida street, Monesen, says: "I suffered from severe pains in my left side and across my back. I often had dizzy spells and my appetite was poor. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Hirsch Drug Co., although I had but little faith in them. I am very glad that I did, for they did me a world of good. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney disorders."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Feightner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Neither was injured, beyond a slight cut on the baby's lip.

Prepare For Brumbaugh

It is understood that the roads through certain sections are being fixed up temporarily for a contemplated trip Governor Brumbaugh is planning to make. He is scheduled to pass through Greensburg and along the state highway to West Newton, thence to Belle Vernon and over into Washington county. Whether the West Newton people are especially glad to see the governor will make very little difference at this time. What the farmers along the road are more interested in is the fact that the roads are being temporarily patched up so the governor can get along with as little shaking as possible. But what's the use for the governor to view the roads. It does the people living along the road very little good for the governor to pass along it in a big automobile, throwing dust in the eyes of the voters, when there isn't any money in sight for road purposes. Twelve thousand dollars available for Westmoreland county in a year. Not enough to build a mile of road, and yet the administration was pledged to good roads. Pledges are wonderful things. The house cleaning in the state highway department has availed nothing so far. Who will take the responsibility? Will the governor explain as he passes along the road?

Eldora Park

Saturday of this week will end one of the best picnic weeks of the season at Eldora park. On this date the blacksmiths of the Monongahela valley will hold their annual outing and they have in prospect a good time Next Saturday will occur one of the biggest outings held during the summer at the park. It will be the annual picnic of the workingmen of the Donora American Steel and Wire mill and the Donora Steel Plant.

Annually the workingmen of Donora have been in the habit of visiting Pittsburgh parks in their annual picnic, and this will be the first year for the picnic to be held in the home district Superintendent Clark of the American Steel and Wire plant is the chairman of the committee looking after arrangements.

The second summer dance of the Alpha Phi Beta fraternity of Charleroi will be given on Thursday of next week and invitations have been issued It is anticipated that this event will be of equal interest with the one previously held, which means that it will be one of the leading social events of the season at the park.

WILL GERMANY WIN?

It matters little to the average American young men and women who have to make their own living which side wins in this world's greatest war. What do you care whether Novogeorgievsk falls or not. You want to make sure that no one is able to submarine you on your way to success.

You are the commander-in-chief of three armies, your ambition, your character, your schooling. But to conquer the fortile valley of opportunity, to storm the lofty heights of success you need reinforcements. You need an additional army. It's name is Business Education.

Your business training must be of the right sort; so that you need fear no rivals; that the business men will reward you well and success will surrender to you.

A large army of Douglas College graduates have stormed and captured many of the finest positions in the business world. We are now recruiting a new army—in a few months they will be able to go out and conquer equally desirable places.

By enrolling with us you save time and money. Your increased earning power as a Douglas graduate will soon pay for your training and add several hundred dollars to your bank account besides.

You owe it to yourself to investigate. If we can prove that we can save you money and qualify you for a better position you want our training. If we cannot prove it you are not out one penny. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

THIS remarkable life drama is too real, too human, for mere words. It hits you and me and our neighbors. It makes us remember and regret every word of idle gossip we have ever repeated. Phillip Smalley. The story of the scandal deals with the tragedy of idle gossip. Its talented authoress, Lois Weber, the justly celebrated author of "Hypocrites" got her idea from a newspaper editorial, based on an everyday newspaper item. Thus the story is intensely human, fascinating in its swiftly moving plot development. There is nothing morbid or distasteful about this absorbing play, but it does make one praise and think with regret of every word of idle gossip one has ever listened to or repeated. Scandal is the sort of movie plays that make the movies worth while. It is the sort that gets to the movie fans hard. It is the sort of play you cannot boost too strongly. —Olympic today. 1t

Chilly Weather

Many an overcoat that has been placed aside for several months was hunted up Tuesday night when the temperature took a sudden drop, and last night the housewife was requested to get out an extra blanket, as the mercury dropped to as low as 48 degrees. The maximum temperature in Monessen yesterday was 80 degrees. The weather the past few days has been the coldest for this time of year in a long time, but although rather chilly, brought no ill effects, and was a welcome relief from the warm weather that preceeded the cold spell.

Candidates At Idlewild

Candidates from all parts of the county swooped down on Idlewild park today, the occasion being the twenty-fourth annual reunion of the Ligonier valley residents. This is one of the largest outings of the season and thousands of farmers who will attend from the mountain districts will have a chance to meet the various candidates seeking nominations at the September primaries.
